About Us

VerTerra produces smart - sustainable - compostable - disposable dinnerware and packaging. Our products are Eco-friendly and elevate the food industry. Founded on the principle of creating a better planet, VerTerra is committed to designing sustainable products out of renewable resources like fallen palm leaves, balsa wood, and bamboo.

HOW IT ALL BEGAN

In 2005, VerTerra CEO Michael Dwork had a life-changing experience during a trip to India. He witnessed a local woman using fallen palm leaves to create all-natural plates by soaking the leaves in water and pressing them in a crude waffle iron. The plates were then used to serve traditional Indian cuisine. This innovative idea left a deep impression on Michael and sparked his desire to create a better alternative to traditional plastic and paper disposable dinnerware. The encounter inspired him to launch VerTerra, a company dedicated to providing sustainable, eco-friendly solutions.

SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

Through our network of factories, we actively employ over 600 women, at a time, in rural India and Indonesia. Our goal - to honor the original, hand crafted art produced traditionally and exclusively by women.

Our Balsa line is made from the leftover tree stumps from certified renewable tree farms. After the tree is felled, our team removes the stump and the other leftovers to be used as the raw material for our balsa product collection making room for new growth.

Our factories recycle the water used during the manufacturing process and mix it with the leftover leaf scrap to convert it into an organic compost to fertilize the land.

The palm leaf line is naturally pure product made from palm leaves and water. There are no glues, plastics, lacquers, veneers, or toxins used in the process.

VerTerra's line of palm leaf dinnerware, collapsible boxes, cheese boards, and serveware (patents pending) provide a wide variety of options for every customer's need. These compostable products withstand hot and cold food, are water and oil resistant, and are microwave, oven and freezer safe. VerTerra products are lightweight, durable, and are the perfect sustainable alternative for the food and beverage landscape.

Cutlery Guide

WOODEN - HEAVYWEIGHT

Our efforts to create the ultimate wooden cutlery have resulted in the integration of ridging and darting techniques, aimed at improving its strength and avoiding breakage. Additionally, a proprietary confectionery glaze has been incorporated during the manufacturing process to eliminate the common issue of a wooden taste in similar products. In essence, these cutleries are not only functional, but also exhibit remarkable durability, designed to perform as if they are permanent products.

WOODEN - MEDIUM WEIGHT

We have meticulously re-engineered our original heavy weight cutlery to prioritize both affordability and performance. This has been achieved without any compromise on the quality, by reducing its weight while still retaining the proprietary baked-in glaze to eliminate the wooden taste. The result is a more budget-friendly option for those who do not require a robust line of cutlery, yet perform just as effectively as its heavier counterpart.

WOODEN - LIGHT WEIGHT

This line of cutlery offers a cost-effective and environmentally conscious solution for customers who prioritize value and sustainability. By combining numerous advantages not found in products at this price point, we have designed an exceptional value product. Rigorously manufactured to eliminate splinters and dust, it provides a remarkable value for lighter fare. However, it should be noted that this particular line does not feature the proprietary baked-in glaze or reinforcing ridging found in our other products.

WOODEN - CLICK N EAT

The Click N' Eat Wooden Cutlery Duo represents a departure from our traditional cutlery offerings. This convenient and full-sized fork and knife combination offers the ultimate culinary experience, be it outdoor or indoor dining or drop-off catering. Lightweight in design, it stacks neatly and is easily separated with a simple click. Enjoy your meal with ease, courtesy of the Click N' Eat Wooden Cutlery Duo.
